Bowl

Date

early 20th Century

Medium

alder or yellow cedar

Description

Carved wood bowl, very weathered, with remnants of red and black paint. A 10 sq. cm. section is missing from one end of the bowl with evidence that the broken off section was once laced on with spruce root in a repair. Remnants of the lacing are still visible. The bowl has raised ends and dips at the sides in between. The raised ends each have a carved human face design; the eyes are slit as opposed to open.

Dimensions
